Diamondhead wants to consolidate fire, water & sewer into city services

BY GEOFF BELCHER
GENERAL MANAGER

When Diamondhead residents go to the polls on June 8, they'll have more to vote on than just the city council races — there will also be a referendum on whether to consolidate the Diamondhead Fire District and the Diamondhead Water and Sewerage District into the city's operations.

"The city is coming into its tenth anniversary next year," Diamondhead Mayor Nancy Depreo said Tuesday. "We've been talking about consolidation since the beginning. There will be cost savings for the Diamondhead Water & Sewer District as well as the Fire District to come into the city."

"The city wants to grow. We're 10 years old, we want to grow, we want to expand, we want to build our business district, and it's vital to have the water & sewer district and fire district operate as city services."

Last month, Depreo and the city council met in a special session and approved a resolution to add two non-binding referendums on the election ballot to allow residents to voice their opinions on the matter.

According to a press release from the council, the move to consolidate is about streamlining operations, not an indictment of the services currently provided by either the fire district or water and sewer district.

"First, the quality of services provided by DFD and DWSD are outstanding!" according to the statement. "This discussion is not about service. The employees, firemen, and commissioners who serve these organizations do amazing work and should be commended."

However, city officials said, "the city of Diamondhead was incorporated 10 years ago and discussions about consolidating all public services started at that time. ... Currently, our community has four 'taxing' authorities with 26 board members governing about 9,000 residents. Residents, business owners and developers often complain that they do not know who to call or where to go with their issue."

"Residents also complain about the high cost to live in Diamondhead with

MSDH instructs providers to halt J&J COVID-19 vaccine

SEA COAST ECHO

Mississippi's State Health Officer Dr. Thomas Dobbs on Tuesday announced that the Mississippi State Department of Health is instructing vaccine providers in the state to "refrain from using Johnson and Johnson until additional guidance is available from the CDC and FDA."

The CDC (Centers for Disease Control) announced early Tuesday morning that the center, along with the FDA (Food and Drug Administration), are reviewing data involving six reported U.S. cases of a "rare type of blood clot in individuals after receiving Johnson and Johnson COVID-19 vaccine."

According to a release from the CDC, as of April 12, more than 6.8 million doses of the Johnson and Johnson vaccine have been administered in the U.S.

"In these cases, a type of blood clot called cerebral venous sinus thrombosis (CVST) was seen in combination with low levels of blood platelets (thrombocytopenia)," the release states. "All six cases occurred among women between the ages of 18 and 48, and Newly elected Ward 4 Bay St. Louis councilman Kyle Lewis and his family.

The Bay St. Louis City Council will have at least one new face after the Republican primary election last week — in the Ward 4 race, challenger Kyle Lewis won over incumbent Councilman Larry J. Smith by 245 votes to 164, according to unofficial results.

"It's very humbling to have this opportunity," Lewis said Tuesday after the ballots were counted. "I feel very fortunate and I'd like to thank all the voters who supported my platform and goals for Ward 4 and the city of Bay St. Louis. I also production offshore in the Gulf of Mexico. The act also directs a portion of revenue to the Land and Water Conservation Fund.”

Pitalo said that there is no local match, the grants are 100 percent funded.

The first project will take place in Oak Harbor for about $2.8 million, he said. This is to purchase the water and sewer certificate at Oak Harbor subdivision in Pearlinton, which will affect about 60 homes.

Once the certificate is purchased, Pitalo said, the HCUA will put in a new sewer collection system.

“And we will remove the small package treatment plant and so all the sewer, at that point, will tie into a line that runs out front of the subdivision and go back to our plant. The whole community of Pearlinton will then at that point be on a centralized sewer and being treated through a mechanical treatment plant,” he said.

Also included in the package, the HCUA will get the existing well and tie it into the existing Pearlinton water distribution system. Then Pearlinton would have a full-time/permanent back up well, Pitalo said.

The second project that HCUA received funding for is the Atlantic Street sewer collection system, which is about $2.6 million.

This project will involve the elimination of septic tanks, which will affect about 60 homes, Pitalo said.

“It’s low and it goes in septic tanks, which is a major drain that goes under 603 and out to the front,” he said. “We’re trying to eliminate that.”

Pitalo said that by getting rid of the septic tanks, it will help eliminate contamination in the area’s bayous, rivers, and the Gulf.

“We’re very appreciative,” Pitalo said. “In working with state and local officials and for Brent Anderson (MS Rep. District 122) in helping us in moving forward with these projects.”

want to thank Larry Smith for his years of service to the city, and thank him for running a good race.”

Smith appeared to take the results in stride.

“That’s politics,” he said after the ballots were counted. “I would like the public to know that I gave everything I could give for the past four years and it’s been a privilege and an honor to serve the people of Ward 4. I will continue to serve, and I will do whatever I can to help my city, because I love her.

“I just appreciate all the support I have received over the years. I’ve made great friends and I think I have a great social backing that I believe has been unsurpassed, and I really just love the people of my city.”

All the other incumbents won their respective races Tuesday.

Mayor Mike Favre was unopposed in the Republican primary, and there is no Democratic candidate, so he will automatically continue to serve in the post after the general election.

In the Councilman-at-Large race, incumbent Gary Knoblock prevailed over challenger Jerry Felder, winning 842 votes city-wide — or 58 percent — to Felder’s 558, or 38 percent.

“I want to thank my opponent for giving me such a good race,” Knoblock said. “I wish him well. I also want to congratulate Kyle Lewis, who just won another hard-fought race. I also want to congratulate the mayor and my fellow councilmen on their victories and I look forward to continue working with them in the very near future.”

Knoblock won five of the city’s six wards.

In Ward 1, Knoblock earned 286 votes to Felder’s 176; in Ward 2, it was Knoblock, 114, and Felder, 65. In Ward 3, Knoblock won 83-30. In Ward 4, 227 to 173. Ward 5, 94-67. In Ward 6, Felder earned 47 votes to Knoblock’s 38.

Ward 1 Councilman Doug Seal, who has served for the past 20 years, notched another win Tuesday, earning 280 votes to challenger Tisha Murphy’s 195. Again, there is no Democratic candidate, so Seal will automatically win the general election.

In Ward 2, incumbent Councilman Eugene “Gene” Hoffman IV was the sole Republican in the race, receiving 151 of the total 155 ballots cast. He will face Democrat and former Councilwoman Wendy McDonald in the June 8 general election.

In Ward 3, incumbent Councilman Jeffrey Reed, a Democrat, was unopposed, and will retain his seat.

In Ward 5, incumbent Councilman Buddy Zimmerman defeated Thaddeus L. Collier 98-65. With no Democrats in the general election, Zimmerman will retain the position.

In Ward 6, incumbent Councilman Josh DeSalvo is unopposed.

Last week’s results are still unofficial — City Clerk Sissy Gonzalez said yesterday that there were not enough outstanding affidavit ballots to make a difference in any of the races, the vote tallies could not be certified until this Thursday.

Although there will now be only one race in the general election — the Ward 2 council race — officials said that the Secretary of State’s office will still require the polls to be open in all six wards.

Bay St. Louis Native Ricky Keeton Assists with Baptisms at Wilkinson County Prison

SEA COAST ECHO

Ricky Keeton Jr., a Bay St. Louis native, recently helped with the baptism of more than 30 men at Wilkinson County Correctional Facility (WCCF). Keeton is the son of the late Ricky Keeton Sr. of Bay St. Louis.

“I was honored that Chaplain [Roscoe] Barnes chose me to be part of his team,” said Keeton. “I felt such joy for these men and their decision to dedicate their lives to Christ.”

Chaplain Roscoe

Barnes III said the baptism is an event the men will always remember. “It is a very important milestone in their lives,” he said. “I couldn’t have done this without my team, and Keeton’s contributions to this service have been invaluable.”

Keeton works as a sally-port orderly in the prison. He helps with the chaplain’s department when he is not working his regular job. He served as a chaplain’s assistant for two years in another prison.

Keeton said he became a Christian four years ago and it was the best decision he ever made. His goals are to earn his G.E.D. and take up another trade. When asked what he planned to do when he is released, he said, “I would love to buy a truck and travel the country spreading the gospel of Christ.”

WCCF is managed by Management & Training Corporation (MTC) of Utah.

The Last One

The other night I watched the documentary “The Last Blockbuster.”

As someone who had a childhood not riddled with streaming services, social media, and a cell phone attached to my hand, I have vivid memories of visiting local movie rental stores.

Prior to 2005, there used to be a Blockbuster store in Waveland, located next to the K-Mart and Payless Shoes. I even remember when Delchamps used to be in that shopping center.

My childhood home was located on Highway 603, so it took less than five minutes to drive to our local Blockbuster store to rent a VHS or DVD.

My favorite part about visiting Blockbuster, aside from the candy and picking out a cool movie, was my cousin Peter Scianna.

He worked there for years and was incredibly knowledgeable about most of the films on the shelves.

He would talk to us for a while about which film would be worth our time and which new releases to skip.

The film, which I had hoped would provide more insight into the corporate demise of Blockbuster itself, is comprised of several actors who describe the feelings of nostalgia associated with movie rental stores.

I remember that there used to be several video rental locations around town, so I never just visited Blockbuster, because each one had it's own unique selection of films.

You could find films that aren't as popular in the mainstream, but infinitely more intriguing and featured better acting and writing than any of these so-called “superhero” movies or popular movies we have nowadays.

I'm not a fan of new releases these days and haven't been for quite some time.

It's the same old boring storylines, a frivolous sequel, or a live-action remake, etc.

I barely go to the movies unless it's something I know I will want to spend my money on like a Quentin Tarantino, Wes Anderson, or Coen brothers film.

They hardly ever disappoint, and I never feel like I've wasted my hard-earned money.

Film watching for me is not necessarily always an escape from reality. I like to learn things, hence why I watch so many documentaries.

But I like films that make you think. I like writers who think outside the box. Stop remaking classic animated films. Give the talented actors of today some of their own original content.

However, one of the best things about a physical movie rental store is the camaraderie amongst staff and customers.

Financial Education Month: The debt dilemma

Debt is a tricky conversation. In the form of a mortgage, debt enables more people to work toward owning their own home. In the form of a small business loan, it gives job creators the opportunity to expand. But debt as the result of a high-interest credit card or a $30,000+ student loan can mean years of financial instability.

Today, 47 percent of Americans are living with credit card debt, with the average amount being more than $4,500 in Mississippi. This kind of debt can be expensive to carry and often tempts us to overspend. Budgeting website TheBalance.com shares a few good tips to avoid getting in credit card trouble:

SET A PERSONAL SPENDING LIMIT ON YOUR CREDIT CARD.

Guest Column

By Treasurer David McRae

Use personal finance software, like Mint or Quicken, to track spending across multiple cards.

Pay your balance in full each month. If you find that you are unable to pay the balance, assess your purchasing to see if spending cuts are feasible. Then, pay off as much as possible each month until your balance returns to zero. Just paying the minimum can make it difficult to actually dig out of debt and can result in a false sense of security.

In total, there is about $1 trillion worth of credit card debt in America. It's one of the largest buckets of personal debt we carry, only surpassed by home mortgages and student loans.

It wasn't until 2010 that student loan debt rose above credit card debt, but it shows no signs of slowing down. Between 2008 and 2018, student loan debt increased 58.5 percent with the average Mississippi college student graduating with more than $30,000 of it. The impact of this debt is expansive, often delaying major life milestones such as getting married, buying a home, and starting a family.

Through the Mississippi Treasury, however, families can pull together to begin saving for a child's education early and mitigate (or eliminate) the impact of student loan debt. More specifically, we offer two 529 college savings tools. One will allow you to lock-in today's tuition rates and prepay college, while the other will enable you to save money for educational expenses in a tax-advantaged account.

These plans aren't only for parents looking to save for a child's tuition. Grandparents and even family friends can open and contribute to accounts, making it

When will the Garfield Ladner Pier be fixed?

Ever since Hurricane Zeta came ashore in late October, I have been asked about the Garfield Ladner Pier at least 25 times. What everyone wants to know is when will the Garfield Ladner Pier be reopened.

First, let me tell you that Waveland is working as fast as possible to reopen the pier. Waveland has hired reimbursable professionals to assist with recovery administration and a designer to put the plans together. Waveland submitted all requested documents that FEMA has asked for and has met with FEMA and MEMA representatives on several occasions. Waveland has to follow the 44 CFR and the Stafford Act to get reimbursed for work that is completed.

OUR LETTERS POLICY

The Sea Coast Echo welcomes comments from its readers. Letters must be signed and include address or telephone number. Letters should be brief, preferably typewritten and double-spaced. Only one letter per writer per month. The editor reserves the right to edit or reject letters. Letters of thanks, expression of appreciation, and political endorsements are inappropriate.

Since the pier is built on Mississippi public land, the city of Waveland will have to get a permit from the Department of Marine Resources and Corps of Engineers in the approving process. Waveland will also have to get clearance from National Wildlife and Fisheries. Waveland is currently working with the Department of Marine Resource (DMR) and the Corps of Engineers in the permitting process. A permit from DMR and Corps of Engineers in the approval permitting process only takes a few months to get. Still, National Wildlife and Fisheries' clearance is, unfortunately, a long process. Permitting is going to be the biggest hurdle in the pier rebuilding process.

Putting together the plans and specifications for the pier will not take too long. The construction of the pier will likely take ten to twelve months. As long as permitting doesn't take too long, and Waveland gets the necessary approvals from FEMA early this summer. I believe late 2022 to early 2023 is a realistic timeframe to get the Garfield Ladner Pier reopened.

HCPHC Receives Funding for Aerostrip at Stennis International Airport

SEA COAST ECHO

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission was awarded $2.5 million in the second round of Gulf Coast Restoration Funds approved this week by the Mississippi Legislature. The funding will be used to build a 4,000-foot by 90-foot concrete Aerostrip at Stennis International Airport to support military operations, unmanned aerial systems and future spaceport launch and recovery operations.

Stennis International Airport supports multiple military operations including training operations.

In addition to supporting training and other military operations, the concrete runway will be constructed for vertical take-off and landings and assault landings by military C-17 and C-130 aircraft without interrupting other airport operations.

The Aerostrip also will allow academic, defense, and private organizations to conduct unmanned systems operations without impacting the airport's air traffic customers.

Additionally, HCPHC is seeking an FAA license to establish Spaceport operations at Stennis, and the airstrip will serve as a taxiway to a refueling area for commercial payloads.

"This funding is vital to our continuing support of the many military operations that take place at Stennis International Airport. The new Aerostrip also is important for our defense training arena, developing unmanned systems operations, and for the Spaceport operations at Stennis in the future," said Bill Cotter, CEO of the Port and Harbor Commission.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission was established in 1963 to lead the county's economic development activities. Stennis International Airport and Port Bienville Industrial Park are home to 30 companies with more than 1,000 employees. For more information visit www.portair-space.com

There is one remaining Blockbuster store, located in Bend, Oregon, managed by Sandi Harding and her family, who have also worked at the store throughout the years.

She also refers to her employees as family and hosts an annual BBQ for them and their families.

Sandi also knows her customers. It is a warm and friendly place and she is doing all she can to keep that little store afloat.

From what I gathered from the film, the top management at Blockbuster did not really know how to navigate the movie and television business once streaming services became widely available.

While I do enjoy the convenience of streaming services, I also miss the experience of going to a real rental store and talking to real people like my cousin Peter.

Like I said before, there were also more obscure films available there, films that are unable to be put on DVD or a digital platform.

It's like with the demise of toy stores, malls, and other physical stores. I remember the fun I would have playing with the newest toys at Toys R' Us, browsing the CD or cassette tape section at Circuit City, or enjoying an ice cream cone while walking through North Shore mall.

I didn't always buy anything either, it was more about the experience.

It was always interesting to find a staff member who shared the same cinematic interests or even told you how good or bad an outfit looked on you outside the fitting room.

I myself have been accustomed to shopping online. A couple of clicks, you're done, and it's on its way to your home.

When I was a kid, it was a big deal for my parents to take us on an outing to the mall and out to eat.

Nowadays, many kids have instant access to the virtual store, virtual connections with people, virtual movies and television, etc. etc.

Back when I was a kid, the only restaurants

I remembered that delivered was Dominos and Pizza Hut. Nowadays, you can order food from most any restaurant and have it delivered to your home.

I've always thought that technology was pretty great and it can be. But at what point will we start to lose that human interaction altogether?

Virtual stores also put brick-and-mortar places out of business, which means that more people will be unemployed and there will be less jobs available.

I like tangible things. I still refuse to read electronic books. I love the feel and smell of books. I also love the library. I spent many, many days in there researching school papers and trying to read more books than anyone else during the Summer Reading Program.

While virtual sources make it easy to find information, one always has to wonder if the information is accurate.

If the past year has taught us anything, people are more than willing to post a bunch of lies and misinformation, rather than take the time to research things on their own. All because they need something to back their own opinion. Opinions are one thing, but sharing inaccurate information is harmful, ignorant, and irresponsible.

There is no telling what kind of technological advances are right around the corner.

But, when I drive around and see empty storefronts, I feel a sense of nostalgia and sadness. Human interaction is important. (Yes, even for us introverts who retreat to their caves as much as possible).

Virtual interaction can be a great tool too, especially when you have friends and family that live far away.

My whole relationship with my nephew has basically built via FaceTime. He has lived far away for most of his life. It has worked and do I wish I could see him more, of course. But I'm grateful for technology, especially in that respect.

I hope the lone Blockbuster can continue to serve its little community. Maybe one day, there will be a way to keep the nostalgic stores open.

I hate to think that kids these days are growing up without that interaction that can only be found at a local business filled with local people working there.

Blockbuster the store was a neat place, but it was Peter that made the experience so memora-

multiple taxes and fees.” Another problem, according to the council, is that the four existing governing boards currently make financial decisions “separately, without regard to what the other entities are doing.”

For instance, when the council lowered millage for the 2021 fiscal year, the DWSD increased rates, the release said. Depreo said one of her main concerns is the current $12.5 million bond the DWSD is requesting, which would be in addition to an outstanding bond that would “bring the debt service to the rate-payers of Diamondhead to $21 million.”

Depreo said that would add an estimated $19.50 per month to each of the districts approximately 4,100 customers for the next 20 years. There are also instances where the different independent agencies have made major purchases or taken on bond debt at roughly the same time, when one central governing body might be able to cut down on duplication, fees and indebtedness, according to the council.

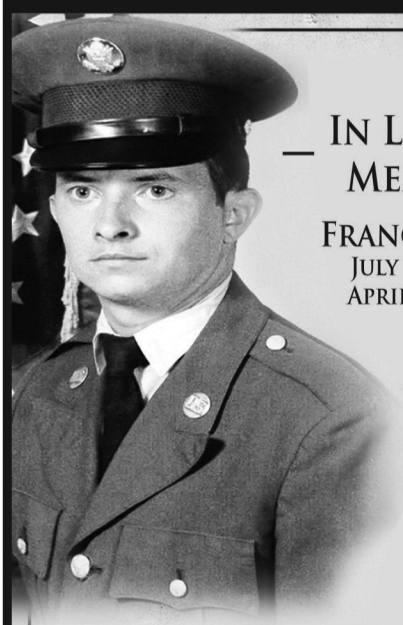

“With each entity taking on new debt separately without regard to the other public entities, our community may become unaffordable for many to live in, which will ultimately impact our property values,” according to the council’s statement. ... “It is not to say our community did not need new equipment, a fire truck or infrastructure improvements; however, it is prudent to collectively consider the bigger picture when making these decisions. Consolidating resources would have eliminated some of the new debt. That is best accomplished by having one governing board that is elected by you, the rate payer/taxpayer, to oversee the operations, like most cities across America.”

In 2019, the city hired a certified public accountant to prepare a consolidated financial statement on the potential financial impact of consolidating services. According to the findings of that study, the council said, “Over time considerable savings will be realized through attrition of duplicate positions and other expenses.” The report only focused on the financial impact of consolidation, according to the release — other factors, such as employee retirements, ongoing projects, impact on existing employees and services to residents — still need further study.

“Also, an analysis of the city’s current interlocal (agreement with the Hancock County Sheriff’s Office) for police department was conducted and it is estimated that the cost would increase to add a city police department,” City Manager Mike Reso said, “so, the council thinks remaining with the interlocal at this time is best for the taxpayers.”

Reso said there had been “push back” from both the fire district and the water & sewer board on consolidating services. Diamondhead Fire Chief Mike Munger said Tuesday he is strongly against the effort to consolidate services and urges residents to vote “no” on the referendum.

“Our main concern is service and we really feel like service is going to be impacted” by consolidation, Munger said. “The city’s report is strictly looking at financials and they’re financials from 2019, so they haven’t really looked at it going forward. Since 2019, we’ve purchased a new fire truck — that’s a monthly lease payment -- and we’re in need of a new ladder truck,” so there are definitely costs the city hasn’t taken into account. Another reason he’s against consolidation, Munger said, is that “the city is not in the state retirement system and our current firefighters are, so you’d have the firefighters leave to take jobs with other departments where they could keep their retirement. So you’d have to rebuild the department with new people and that takes a lot of time and money.” He elaborated on that statement in a social media post: “Loss of our experienced firefighters and EMTs — the city’s plan takes away the current pension plan of the vested firefighters and offers a trivial replacement,” Munger said. “The overwhelming majority of your current firefighters/EMTs would leave to continue their vested pension plan. This would be a huge loss to our community.” In addition, he said, “The alleged savings are not what they seem ... Their plan lacks funding for growth within the city, such as replacing aging trucks and equipment that are required to maintain our excellent insurance rating (your homeowner’s premium) and has no plan to maintain our level of service.” Munger also said that the fire district’s current independence “protects the residents of Diamondhead. The fire district’s independence form the city administration allows it to make decisions regarding public health and safety paramount without political pressure or intervention.” The Diamondhead Water & Sewer District Board lambasted the city’s plan in a lengthy social media post, saying the council voted on the resolution in an “impromptu special meeting” without “prior information to residents, no town halls for citizen input and debate, no independent third-party analysis of the ‘true and significant’ financial and operational impacts that would result. ...” “The innumerable defects in the consolidation analysis will be exposed and we are confident that exposure will become legend,” the DWSD Board said. “The only question is whether that exposure can/will occur pre- or post-, leading the community down an irreversible path of regret.

“Right out of the gate, it is grossly irresponsible to set the false pretense that either the Water and Sewer or Fire Districts are doing anything but controlling costs. It is equally irresponsible to play this like a board game by suggesting that all you have to do is gut key technical management and financial staff and transfer the remaining employees into an inferior benefits package as a means of cost control.”

The DWSD Board said that having a non-binding ballot referendum on consolidation would merely give the appearance of getting public input, when in reality, a low voter-turnout could instead give the false impression that a large amount of residents are for the measure. The board said that “an under-informed polling referendum will not produce, with integrity, an actionable result.”

“Let’s be clear, we are absolutely guilty of applying all of our attention to keeping your services operating to the highest standard and lowest cost possible,” according to the board statement. “The result is that we have been woefully lax in properly communicating the why, where and how we are providing these services.”

The board said it has now begun a “concerted effort to help safeguard our customers from walking blindly into the polling booth,” by beginning a targeted information campaign “to shine as much light as possible on what this should mean to you, both the pros and the cons.”

The board urged residents to check its Facebook page frequently to help stay informed.

“This is not an easy or quick decision,” according to the city council’s statement. “This will take time. If consolidation occurs, the city of Diamondhead is committed to offering all employees of both the DFD and DWSD a position with the city.”

“The next step is to see if the residents want this to occur,” Reso said. “This is the reason for the non-binding referendum on the ballot in June. We want to give the residents a voice and a chance to be heard.”

“The city is trying to be as transparent as possible with the residents, as we always are,” Depreo said. “Once their voices are heard, we’ll move in whatever direction they tell us to move in. Being transparent and letting the residents determine the direction is essential.”

Spiritual Truth in Unexpected Places

By C. GERALD RICHARDSON, D. MIN.

In the Gospel of Mark 9:38-ff there is an interesting scene in which the disciples report to Jesus that they have seen someone unknown to them performing works of ministry in his name. Since he was a stranger they told him to stop.

The response of Jesus was that they should have allowed him to continue. He reasoned that anyone who is busy doing good things in his name is not very likely to speak evil of him or cause trouble in the future. The text says, "He that is not against us is for us."

That small exchange between Jesus and his disciples is sometimes taken as little more than a footnote in scripture. It could be, however, that there is more to it than meets the eye.

Our tendency is often to cast aside and not take seriously those persons who have a somewhat different view of things than we do. It is far too easy to become closed in on that which is familiar and common to our experience. When we do this we allow very little space for ideas and opinions which, though different, may have potential to enrich our lives.

Traditional religious practice is particularly vulnerable to this kind of problem. Because we have been around for a long time, and because we have attained a certain degree of respectability in our communities, it is easy to become convinced that our way is the only way. It can be helpful to remember that there is a broadness to the spiritual pilgrimage. We experience it in unique and individual ways, and none of us can claim to hold all the truth.

Our Christian hymns have given us this wisdom for centuries. "There's A Wideness in God's Mercy", written by Frederick W. Faber in 1854, contains the profound declaration, "For the love of God is broader than the measure of our mind". "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling" by Charles Wesley in 1747 reminds us, "Jesus, thou art all compassion, pure unbounded love thou art". Even the children's song that many of us learned in Sunday School taught us that the fountain of love from God is "deep and wide". (Early 20th Century Salvation Army hymn by Sidney Cox.)

This same text finds Jesus proclaiming that anyone giving a cup of cold water in his name would be counted among his followers.

It could be that there is a subtle suggestion here that real faith is not so much what goes on inside the walls of beautiful buildings as it is what we practice in the world, and the way we relate to others. Orthodoxy and commitment are not always the same.

Attempting to live as givers and receivers of grace, whatever the setting, is nearly always appropriate.

symptoms occurred six to 13 days after vaccination. Treatment of this specific type of blood clot is different from the treatment that might typically be administered. Usually an anticoagulant drug called heparin is used to treat blood clots. In this setting, administration of heparin may be dangerous, and alternative treatments need to be given."

According to the release, the CDC and the Advisory Committee on Immunizations Practices are scheduled to meet on Wednesday, April 14 to review these cases. FDA will then review the analysis.

The CDC and FDA are recommending a pause in the vaccine out of an "abundance of caution," the release states.

"Right now, these adverse events appear to be extremely rare," the release states. "COVID-19 vaccine safety is a top priority for the federal government, and we take all reports of health problems following COVID-19 vaccination seriously. People who have received the Johnson and Johnson vaccine who develop severe headache, abdominal pain, leg pain, or shortness of breath within three weeks after vaccination should contact their health provider."

Meet Bella. We are seeking a very special home for this very special girl. Bella is a 9 month old German Shepherd Dog, who was surrendered by her owners due to a variety of concerns. This beautiful gal will require a family experienced with dogs suffering with separation anxiety and fear issues resulting from lack of socialization, training, and bullying by a large breed dog. Potential adopters should understand that consulting a professional dog behaviorist/trainer is highly recommended to help Bella become a confident, trusting dog. She is terrified of leashes!! In fact, she will "shut down" and hide at the sight of a leash. She is fearful of sudden, quick movements and loud noises. She does not make friends easily, but once you gain her trust, she is very loving and affectionate. Bella is very smart, and quickly learned the "sit" command. She must always be trained with positivity and never with a harsh tone or with aggressive methods. In her former home, Bella was bullied by another large breed dog, so she is fear aggressive towards medium/large dogs. She is, however, very accepting of small dogs, and in fact, her best buddies here at the shelter are Dachshunds and Chihuahuas. She plays very sweetly and gently with her little pals. Bella must join an adult only home, or one with calm children 12+ years old. We initially thought that she was aggressive towards cats, but it seems her incessant barking is an invitation to play! Lol! A home with a securely fenced yard is mandatory to be considered for adoption; Bella must be supervised at all times while outdoors. Remember, at this time, she cannot be walked on a leash/harness due to her paralyzing fear of leashes. As she is very easily spooked, she should be watched carefully around doors and fences to avoid escape. Introducing Bella to her new home and new experiences should be done with patience and understanding, and she should never be pushed to accept unfamiliar situations. Bella is neither house nor crate trained, and she can be destructive when left alone for long periods of time. We recommend her joining a home with a single person or couple, where one partner works from home, or is semi-retired (or retired). Bella needs a companion who will be devoted to spending quality time with her, seek professional training & support, and be dedicated to her physical and emotional well-being.

If you feel as though you can provide Bella with the experienced, loving, responsible home she deserves, please call our front desk at 228-466-4516 (Mon-Fri 10am-4pm) and speak with Director Shane Wyman to schedule a meet-n-greet.

SSC/OLA tennis claims Division 8-4A title

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The Saint Stanislaus/Our Lady Academy tennis team claimed the Division 8-4A team title with their victory over Pass Christian 6-1 on March 25. Members of the SSC tennis team include Nour Tayara, Omar Tayara, Cole Bryant, Bobby Hebert, Noah Lemmon, Jack Farr, and Thomas McArthur. Members of the OLA tennis team include Jacqueline Mossy, Nathalia Mossy, Audrey Chang, Liza Richoux, Maria Schuyler, Katie Favre, and Sofie Talazac.

SSC/OLA head tennis coach Andrew German commented, “This year’s team is younger than years past. Despite that, we still won our Division. It shows that they have put in the hard work necessary from January until now. The maturity level is what impresses me the most. It’s been a pleasure to coach this team.”

The boys doubles team of Nour and Omar Tayara advanced and the girls doubles team of Jacqueline and Nathalia Mossy advanced to the individual state tournament which takes place after the team state championships.

The SSC/OLA tennis team will open the postseason with a match against Sumrall on Monday, April 12 at Pass Christian.

DWGAN Golfing News from February 2021

BY SHIRLEY HALTERMAN

Nineteen gals braved (and I do mean “braved”) the weather to play our monthly Trophy Day. It was extremely cold that morning, but we are not just “fair weather” golfers. The February Trophy Day winners of were: LOW GROSS - Flight 1 - 1st Place winner was Therese Mauterer (she seems to be making a habit of this). In Flight 2 - 1st Place was taken by Dinah Knobloch, and in Flight 3 - 1st Place was achieved by Mary Murray. Our Black Flight was not represented in the Low Gross category. In the LOW NET category, Flight 1 - 1st Place was taken by Kathie Pierson. In Flight 2 - Sylvia Corban took 1st Place. This time Flight 3 was not represented but our Black Flight winner was: Kathy Lindquist. Our LOW PUTTS were achieved by: Flight 1 - Therese Mauterer with 15 putts, Flight 2 - Sylvia Corban with 14 putts, and in the Black Flight - Carol Wyrosdick with 19 putts. This month in our LONGEST DRIVE event, Flight 1 - was taken by Therese Mauterer, Flight 2 - by Pattie Blackwood, and, not to be left out, the Black Flight long drive honors went to Mary Murray. Our CLOSEST-TO-THE-PIN winners were: Flight 1 - (guess who) Therese Mauterer, Flight 2 - Sylvia Corban, and Black Flight - Mary Murray. It appears that Therese, Sylvia and Mary were having a great day despite the cold. CHIP-INS were scored by the following: Sylvia Corban scored two (one on #10 and another on #11) while Dinah Knobloch scored one on #10 and Nancy Sislow chalked up one on #18. Great golfing ladies.

Tuesday, February 9th, found us playing “Throw Out the 3 Highest Scores.” While the weather was a bit more cooperative, previous days rains found us playing the back of the Cardinal Course CART PATH ONLY. You get a lot more exercise during this type of competition. Our Low Net Winners in Flight #1 - 1st Place - Therese Mauterer; 2nd Place - Toni Rossol, and 3rd Place found us with four gals tied for this position: Marilyn Galus, Kathie Pierson, Judy Tauzin and Pat VanDer-vort. In Flight #2 - Dinah Knobloch and Nancy Sislow tied for 1st Place and Kathy Jones and Cheryl Saak also tied for 2nd Place with Brigitte Becker achieving the 3rd Place honors. When the Black Flight scores were posted, Jeri Harris took 1st Place, Carole Griffin took 2nd Place and 3rd Place went to Mary Murray. Two gals had Chip-Ins: Jeri Harris and Kathy Jones both on Hole #14 on the Cardinal Course. The winter weather finally got the best of us on February 16th. With morning temps in the 20s we made the wise decision to cancel this Best Ball event.

Well, just maybe, Spring is coming back to our Gulf Coast. The Scramble scheduled on the front nine holes of the Cardinal was able to be played in sunny and much warmer weather. The LOW GROSS winning team brought in a score of 40. The team was composed of Sylvia Corban, Kathy Jones, Therese Mauterer and Mary Mizell. Both Second and Third Places posted ties. The two teams with the Second Place scores of 42 stokes were: the team of Judi Brannan, Marilyn Galus, Catherine Gesell and Gale Lammers and the team of Brigitte Becker, Shirley Halterman, Betsy Lyons and Kathie Pierson. And finally, the tied Third Place teams with a score of 43 were: Kathy Lindquist, Audrey Ramirez, Marsha Roberts and Nancy Sislow and the team of: Susie Fontenot, Jerry Ingraham, Sue Hebert and Carolyn Yarbrough. Brigitte Becker scored a Chip-In on Hole #7.

Shore Thing Fish and Loaves

Shore Thing Fishing Report

By Capt. Sonny Schindler

Live bait can be tough to get this time of year. For a two boat trip Capt Matt and I had recently, we had plenty of bait, or so we thought... We only had three customers each, and we both had well over 200 beautiful live shrimp. I actually had two Pastors from Georgia, and one of their sons. Jeff, Keith and young Hunter were alot of fun. We were fishing around Cat Island, and we found plenty of fish. Truth be told, both boats landed on every cast bites. However, it was all undersized speckled trout, and redfish. Those little critters were doing their best to eat us out of house and home.

I know we always say,

“Never leave fish to find fish”, but none of these fish were going into the fish box. Both boats headed out into open water, to fish structures. The water had a beautiful green color, and the seas had a light chop. We positioned our boat on what I thought was the structure, but didn’t get a nibble. Using the I-pilot trolling motor and GPS we were able to move and hold the boat over a good piece of structure.

Once we were positioned correctly, it was GAME ON!!! It was pretty much all sheep-head, every single drop. The Pastors were hosting a fish fry, and needed all the fish they could get. The fishing was almost too good. We were quickly burning through what was left of our shrimp. As much I hated to do it, I started to cut the shrimp in half, then thirds, then fourths. We turned 10 shrimp into 40 baits quickly. They missed a few fish, but they were coming into the net about as quickly as I could scoop. It didn’t take long for them to load the boat. We topped off the fish box quickly, and headed in. Capt Matt radioed in, saying they were running out of bait on their bite too.

Through out our time together, the Pastors talked a little about scripture and Religion. We never got to the story about how Jesus fed the masses with just a couple loaves of bread and a few fish. Its safe to say, we certainly did our best to recreate some of that story. We turned just a few shrimp into many many fish to feed the masses. It was a great day!

As Always, have fun and be safe

Bay High's Sadie Pohl accepted into leadership program

Sadie Pohl

SEA COAST ECHO

Sadie Pohl, a junior at Bay High School, has been accepted into the Summer Leadership Institute for High School Students. The program is a partnership between the University of Mississippi's Lott Leadership Institute and the Division of Outreach's Summer College for High School Students.

The goals of the program are to develop leadership skills in young citizens and prepare them for college. To achieve these goals, the Summer Leadership Institute brings together student leaders from across the Southeast to earn college credit on the UM campus and to begin the study of leadership.

Participants have the opportunity to mingle with college administrators, student leaders and community leaders while taking part in current-event debates, discussions and decision-making activities. The program culminates with a one-week trip to Washington, D.C., so participants can see the federal government in action, hear from national leaders and tour the nation's Capitol. The trip is pending COVID-19 and other public health restrictions.

Program organizers say the ideal outcome is for students who complete the program to use their new skills to work for the betterment of their own schools and communities.

University officials selected a total of 40 participants from a group of nominated applicants for the two summer sessions. Students are ranked on demonstrated interest in public service, leadership, concern for others and academic achievements.

Dr. Amy Coyne, Bay High principal, said, "Sadie Pohl is a delightful and positive spirit. She excels in the academics and arts and is active in student and community life. She is a leader, role model and example to us all and I am so excited that she will be afforded this amazing opportunity that she is so deserving of."

dinary to the Honors College student body," quoted Dr. Ellen Weinauer, Dean of Southern Mississippi Honors College.

An honors student throughout high school, Cali holds office as the class secretary, and is a member of the National Honor Society, Mu Alpha Theta Mathematics Honor Society, Spanish Honor Society, and the Tri M Choral Honor Society. She is the Vice President of Campus Ministry, a member of the Students Against Destructive Decisions (SADD), Interact Club, Crescent Athletic Club, and an OLA Ambassador.

Cali has always been a stand-out in the OLA athletic programs. She held title as captain of the Cross-Country Team, Basketball Team, and the Track & Field Team in the 2020-2021 seasons.

When she was not involved sports, studying, or participating in other activities, Cali was volunteering. She completed over 600 hours of her time to help others and the community during her years at OLA. She devoted over 170 hours teaching at the local churches' bible schools; performed over 250 hours helping with church functions; and dedicated over 220 hours to assist in OLA's fundraisers and school events.

"Cali is an exceptional student whose relentless dedication, faith, enthusiasm, and perseverance have paved her way to an undeniable successful future. The teachers, staff, and student body will truly miss Cali for she is such a positive and true reflection of a dynamic, Christian young lady," commented Marilyn Pigott, Principal.

Cali will major in Elementary Education with an emphasis in English next fall. She is the daughter of Daren and Danny Reinhart of Diamondhead, Mississippi.

Becoming Fully Human in a Sustainable Gulf Coast Tin Shed Porch Discussion with Dr. James Inabinet at the historical 100 Men Hall

SEA COAST ECHO

Dr. James Inabinet is the artist in residence at the 100 Men Hall's Tin Shed in March and April 2021. Dr. Inabinet has spent over three decades asking the question: "Why are our natural and human communities not thriving?" Dr. Inabinet will present his findings in a Tin Shed porch discussion on Friday, April 23, 2021. This project was made possible by a grant from the Mississippi Humanities Council, through support from the National Endowment for the Humanities.

Dr. Inabinet's residency at Tin Shed will be to study three diverse organizations – 100 Men Hall, St. Rose de Lima Catholic Church, and Christ Episcopal Church, and their locations on the Gulf Coast, each place the product of varying amounts of development. The focus of the residency is the pathway to a deeper form of relationship between human capacity and the demands of place for ecological living. This residency is the culmination of Dr. Inabinet's entire 35-year project, which seeks viable pathways to thriving – thriving people on a thriving planet – through ascertaining the how, why and where of ecological living.

The discussion will include a presentation of the collection of work – poetry, vignettes, drawings, illustrated map, abstract paintings – which decodes the experience. Part of the discussion will be interactive; Dr. Inabinet will engage the audience-become-participants in actual techniques used to engage the place in dialogue and create the art. This prepares the participants to view the art and experience it in the way it was created. The participants thus become co-researchers in a way so that they might so subsequently engage their own places in dialogue.

Finally, the discussion will be an interactive conversation, augmented by attendees' observations and questions that might provide a vision of future strategies for establishing a viable, sustainable, and peaceful mode specific to the Gulf Coast and, in general, to that of our world. The discussion will be moderated by Rachel Dangermond, Executive Director of the 100 Men Hall.

This project was made possible by a grant from the Mississippi Humanities Council, through support from the National Endowment for the Humanities.
